

Transfer of Credits

The University of Miami suggests that students follow a general liberal arts curriculum. Students at two-year colleges are encouraged to follow the Associate of Arts path.

Transfer credit evaluations are only conducted after the student has completed an application and been accepted. Only credits from a regionally accredited institution are transferable to the University of Miami. At UM, the transfer of credits is a two-part process:

❑ After the student has been accepted:

- ❑ Transcripts are reviewed on a course-by-course basis.
- ❑ The student will receive a detailed transfer credit evaluation with any possible UM course equivalencies.

❑ After arriving on campus:

- ❑ Students will meet with their academic advisors or departmental deans.

Advisors will determine how the transferable credits satisfy degree requirements and approve the course

- ❑ equivalencies.

Credits That Will Not Be Accepted:

- ❑ Credits taken at an institution that is not regionally accredited*.
- ❑ Courses with a Grade Lower than C
- ❑ Physical Education, Professional, or Technical Courses
- ❑ The following credits completed through a Two-Year College: Study Abroad, Independent Study or Internships
- ❑ Life Experience

Credits earned through online coursework must have a grade of C or better and be taken through a regionally accredited institution. Courses that have grades of C- or lower will not transfer; however, these grades will still be used to compute an admission grade point average.

*For information about regionally accredited institutions:

- ❑ Western states - www.wascweb.org

Southern states - www.sacscoc.org

Northwestern states - www.nwccu.org

New England states - www.neasc.org

Middle states - www.msache.org

North Central states - www.ncacihe.org